What's going on with Main Street? - Good question. It's complicated, but here's the TLDR: It remains pedestrian-only for now, but that status is very precarious. Some property owners are suing Ventura, saying the city didn't follow the correct procedure when they closed the street to traffic.

What happens after the lawsuit? - Main Street can be closed to cars in a legal way, as long as the proper procedures are followed. If the lawsuit doesn't work out in the city's favor, we hope our City Council will move swiftly to keep Main car-free. We know that a pedestrian-only Main is widely popular. Better yet, we know it's the way to keep Main Street thriving.

Will efforts be made to improve the appearance, functionality, and accessibility of a pedestrian only Main Street? - Yes! There are lots of plans to beautify Main Street. We envision a fully-accessible city center: A place to gather, shop, dine and more.
